

Alissa Randall Haines

Alissa was born and raised in Lincoln. She graduated from Brigham Young University in 2006 with a bachelor's of science in Marriage, Family and Human Development. She joined the North Central Center staff in 2007 and is responsible for the coordination of grants from the application phase, through invoicing and reporting to completion.

She is married to Victory Haines, a middle school mathematics teacher and former Husker football player. They are the proud parents of Rebekah, born in October 2009. Alissa also enjoys keeping up with her large extended family and spending time with her nieces and nephews.
