

Daphne Holterman

- Raised on a beef and hog farm near Brodhead, Wisconsin
- BA Agricultural Journalism, University of Wisconsin-Madison
- Former Editor, Johnson Hill Press, Fort Atkinson, WI
- Former Senior Associate, APR, Morgan&Myers, Jefferson, WI
- Currently operates dairy farm and milk trucking company consisting of 850 milk cows and 1,100 acres. Partner with husband, Lloyd, and Tim Strobel.
- Two daughters, Lauren and Taylor

Honors/Awards/Committees

- World Dairy Expo Woman of the Year, 2009
- State & national winners, Jaycees Outstanding Young Farmer (OYF) 1993 & 1994
- Named Wisconsin Master Farmer with husband Lloyd in 2003
- Watertown Regional Medical Center/UW Health Partners, Board of Directors 2004-present
- Jefferson County Animal Agriculture Alliance, Treasurer
- 4-H dairy leader
- Jefferson County Farmland Conservation Easement Commission, 2007-10

Daphne is a member of the Wisconsin Women in Agriculture; UW-Madison alumni, Wisconsin Agribusiness Council, Jefferson County Agri-business Club, Professional Dairy Producers of Wisconsin, and the Dairy Business Association.